/90 cont./ [Limão Verde and Aldeinha]

346 As in the other communities with a large Protestant [162] contingent, Aldeinha has its church, relatively large and built of bricks. It is the best building in the aldea, not to say the [485] only one; there is only one other house behind the church, 342 which serves to put up guests. The dwelling houses or ranchos are in the style typical of nearly all Terêna aldeas: "pau-a-368 pique" and "taipa" /i.e. with mud walls/. There is no school, although the church building has already been used for this 875 purpose. It is interesting that, in spite of the fact that the 628 community supports a teacher in the place called "Água Branca," in Brejão aldea (Capitão Vitorino), it complains [797] about not having one to teach its own children.... This is what might be called catechizing strategy: since in "Água Branca" (and in Brejão as a whole) there are no "Believers," the leaders of Aldeinha probably hope to catechize through the teacher 872 their "compatriots" in Brejão. The Aldeinha children attend 678 the município schools of Aquidauana, although they would prefer to go to school in their own community, not only because of the distance, but also the difficulty they have in buying uniforms and shoes; cases of absenteeism from class owing to lack of clothing are countless, as we were able to verify 197 in the course of our visits to the community. As for language, 178 it can be said that Aldeinha follows the example of the Terêna communities that underwent a greater degree of the process of social change, this being reflected in the gradual loss of the tribal language, through the generations.

Brejão or Capitão Vitorino

361 Brejão or Captain Vitorino's aldea, as it is known, occu-621 pies an area of 3,904 hectares, duly demarcated and with a [133] deed /titulo/ for 2,800 hectares. The native reservation is located in Nioac Município, with the Urumbeva River to the north and the Maracaju range to the east. A document of the
